UNIVERSITY BOY WRITES ARTICLE FOR MAGAZINE

Describes His Impressions of Life and Romance on Kentucky Campus

AUTHOR IS IN EUROPE WITH RHYTHM KINGS

Jack Rash Tells of His Exper-iences at University for "College Humor"

The following article, written by Jack Rash, a student at the University, appears in the August issue of College Humor, as well as a large picture of the author. He is now in Europe, conducting his division of Toy Sandefur's Kentucky Rhythm Kings.

Rhythm Kings.

"I was born in 1909 at Henderson, Kentucky. It's a quiet little country town, good for business and strong on the social end, with the country club always the hangout in the summer. I think'it's best to grow up in a small town, because you get closer to nature and you seem to have a better home life and greater childhood adventures than the average person, in a city like New York.

New York.

"Dad went to the University of Virginia and played football, so it was taken for granted that I'd go to college too. I didn't have to run away from home or starve or anything like that. I'd seen the University of Kentucky once or twice before I entered, but you can't learn much about college life in the summer when all the fraternities are closed, so I was as green a frealman, as the rest. I think the only thing I thought about the university before I went there was that I'd have a big time.

"I had it. Arriving as a freshman, sity before I went there was that I'd have a big time.

"I had it. Arriving as a freshman, it was one big rush, with fraternities taking you places and everything unsettled. It was a new kind of a "big time" for me, since I wasn't used to it. The social side of college turned out about as I had imagined. As for studies, before I entered I had expected them to be hard, but that was all I'd thought concerning them. You don't worry much about studying when you're a freshman. At seventeen or eighteen you don't realize how serious a matter it is. I spent my first year going, around to sorority houses. At Kentucky you can drop in any time and dance or talk, and now and then a sorority holds open house for a fraternity. After about a year of this a freshman gets disgusted, having learned by his years' experience, and settles down to work.

"I don't believe a university changes your opinions at all. I've studied a little science, but I still believe in God. I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I still believe in religion and I think the evolution theory is true, but I st has happened to make me ashamed of them, and they're well satisfied with what I've done so far.

with what I've done so far.

"The same thing applies to my ideas on marriage. Companionate marriage, free love and all that bunk? It seems to me natural to settle down when you've married at some sort of position in life. I may get married before I'm able to support a family, but I doubt it. I had this idea before I saw a unit-versity, and I still have it, and so the majority of people at Kentucky, The girls in our part of the sountry are different from the ones in the North. Once in a while you will find one like Charlsey Smith, who was May Queen, sponsor of the band, a big figure in women's student government, and made ato of honors, but most girls come to school for a good time and nother the case. The one's with no money. student government, and made a lot of honors, but most girls come to school for a good time and nothing else. The ones with no money, who have had to make an effort to come, work at school, but the others are like those from Louisville; there, boys and girls have to go to separate high schools, with the result that when they graduate, they come to the university because they want to go to school together. It's something new. In the South, women don't go into business as much as they do elsewhere, being far more interested in social things. Among wealthy girls it is about the same, but the middle class of poor Northern girl hasn't anywhere near the social life of the average Southern girl. It isn't money. It's family. I don't even know exactly how we judge families, but they are simply good or bad and everyone knows which. No one goes around bragging about his family, but you know the people you want to run around with This idea is slowly breaking, but it holds still. It holds, too, in a small Northern town, but with this difference. Up North it is a big thing to run around with a girl who owns six Packards. In the South you might want to run around with her and the Packards, but unless she was O. K. always, you simply couldn't get away with it, not even if she were one of the cute little faminine women who rate so highly in the South.

"We like our women to be women, not athletes. Because of this, there social life of the average Southern girl. It isn't money. It's family, I don't even know exactly how we judge families, but they are simply good or bad and everyone knows which. No one goes around bragging about his family, but you know the people you want to run around with. This idea is slowly breaking, but it holds still. It holds, too, in a small Northern town, but with this difference. Up North it is a big thing to run around with a girl who wars six Packards. In the South you might want to run around with her and the Packards, but unless she was O. K. always, you simply couldn't get away with it, not even if she were one of the cute little feminine women who rate so highly in the South.

"We like our women to be women, not athietes. Because of this, there is a feeling at Northern universities that we do a lot of hot love making, but I don't think there's so much of it. You can't get in with a Southern girl unless you've been introduced to her. And no one is going to indreduce "buse" to his girl frieuds. As for girls who are in love with one fellows, no one would think of schoolershy them much. Just had for the end of school each year, for the end of school each year,

Summer in Kentucky

By VIRGIL LEON STURGILL

Long lines of hills that billow to the sky Thru purple haze of morning's moving mist; A tint of yellow gold and amethyst; The song of birds, a bit of heaven's blue And cool deep shades where sunbeams trickle through And it's summer in Kentucky.

The smooth, white stretches over Rolling hills in beds of clover. Here sleep fields of verdant soil Tilled by sturdy sons of toil. Cattle browse beneath the shade Of spreading oaks and maples tall; The bees a-hum on drowsy wing Are sipping at the dewey grass;

The heart of nature leaps and sings

And smiles upon it all. Then it's summer in Kentucky.

Timothy's a burst of flame, Blackberries are a-bloom And by the pond across the way I hear the bullfrogs boom. The morning sun shines on the stream That trickles down the hollow, Across the sands, through rushes cool Where lazy pigs can wallow. Life is at best, and we are lucky When summer comes to old Kentucky.

PROFESSOR LIGON PLACES STUDENTS

Placement Bureau Secured

The University placement bureau, in charge of Prof M. E. Ligon, nationally known educator, placed every well trained graduate from the University who applied for positions last year. Of the total of 128 placings in 1928-1929, 24 were to administrative positions, such as superintendents or principals of schools. Besides securing job for teachers of purely academic work the bureau also places athletic coaches and band and orchestra directors. The usual salaries run from $125 to $150 a month, however one beginner reband and orchestra directors. The usual salaries run from $125 to $150 a month, however one beginner received a starting salary of $3,000 per annum last year. The coaches receive as starting salaries approximately $175 a month and upwards, while band directors are the most highly paid of all at the present time, due to recent interest in this type of school work and the lack of material available.

The service of the bureau is free of charge to all persons who have attended classes at the University, and many teachers maintain their listing with the bureau and often find advanced positions. While most of the jobs secured are in Kentucky quite a number are given places in neighboring states.

CONVOCATION IS Surrender of Gen. Morgan HELD AT NEW MEMORIAL HALL Is Still Debated by Many RETURNS FROM

Dr. Frank L. McVey, President of University, Makes Interesting Address

MANY VISITORS ARE PRESENT FOR TALK

Rev. R. H. Daugherty, Methodist Minister, Pronounces Invocation

"What is the Spirit of Art?" asked President McVey at the second summer school convocation held yesterday in Memorial hall during the fifth hour. The word "art" expresses our relation to the beautiful, and is often regarded as something ephemeral or or extraneous, yet, nothing is more lasting than art,—"all passes and art alone endures."

art,—"all passes and art alone endures."

A number of visitors were present to hear President McVey give his interpretation of the art spirit in relation to life. Although we are living in an age of machinery, there is a comparatively small connection between human being and machinery, Dr. McVey said. The movie, radio, airplane, and other inventions have a more standardizing effect on the mind and thought, while art teaches the meaning of life.

Art is illustrated by the painter, the poet, and the musician, each longing for the harmony and beauty of self-expression. In these days of increasing leisure the art spirit must prevail or we shall fall to get out of life any considerable part of its meaning. When we understand that we can carry the art spirit into the houses we live in, into the clothes that we wear, into the furniture we use and into the human relations of every day, life brings a great gift to us.

A renowned philosopher said, "The mind of man makes his

A renowned philosopher said, "The mind of man makes his world." With the God given gift of thought man imbues his world." With the God given gift of thought man imbues his world with beauty. Beauty is here to see and when he grasps the harmony of the world his heart and his mind are filled with it. When the art spirit claims him, a new attitude appears in man's relation to his fellows and his own heart responds to the doing of every thing he sets his hand to do with thoroughness, honesty and care. He does it because he wants to do it. He giories in the world who applied for positions st year. Of the total of 128 placgs in 1928-1929, 24 were to administrative neglitions.

when the art spirit becomes dom-inant and men are filled with it, pessimism disappears and the ma-chine age has no terror among men living up to their highest possibil-ities. This way of looking at the influence of the art spirit is given to us in the summary of a poem called "Colors," by Phoebe Crosby Atlant:

Allnut:
"To the Glory of God
In loving memory of
My days on Earth."

My days on Earth."

President McVey bade every one become the apostle of this old but ever new spirit, carrying its truth into every walk of life.

The Rev. R. H. Daugherty, pastor of the Maxwell street Methodist church, pronounced the invocation at yesterday's convocation and Dr. W. S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education and head of the summer school, made announcements and introduced President McVey to the summer school students.

HOW DO YOU STAND?

Oliver Wendell Holmes once said. "I find that the great thing in this world is not so much where one stands, but in what direction he is moving."

Think it over, where are you standing, in what direction are you moving?

To "stand pat" is a good thing in its place and a good thing when used with "common sense." To hold one's ground in the face of a world of opposition is one of the bravest things anyone can dowhen he knows that he is right. 'To hold one's ground when the opposing factor has proved in "black and white" that a certain thing is a fact, "standing pat" then ceases to be a brave thing and becomes "hard

Not to have a mind of one's own-to own one which will change with the slightest deflection of the wind—is just as bad as being a chronic "stand

To strike a so-called "happy medium," then, some-where between the firm "stand pat" man, and the man who is willing to listen to and reason with another man, is that toward which we should strive.

Critics lack the initiative themselves to put their ideas across, but when another who has the initiative steps in and does his best, they are ready to pick the faults. In the words of Holmes, one of these men stands, and the other is moving in a certain direction. What are you doing?

Despite the name of Clara Bow's

we predict that it will be the usual wow that this pd-headed IT girl is renowned for making. Richard Arlen plays the tight rope walker who ties knots in Clara's heart, and even if Clara has annowned her engagement to Harry Richman, that has nothing to do with this picture.
Altitough we have heard some has nothing to do with this picture.

Although we have heard some criticism of Clara's voice, it is our belief that it carries out her vivid personality and is an intensification of the parts she takes. She may have a hard time with her men, but she always obeys the Northwest police injunction, for after a few husky sentences from her they are willing to be tamely led to the four corners of the earth.

"Joy Street" Fox All Star Cast

is a Democrat.

"Prohibition makes few people sob for joy. Our big drink is 'shine,' which is not corn, but 'sugar' whiskey. The niggers make it. They throw everything into it from motormen's gloves to old shirts. It gets about halfway down and then wants to come back. Some of it tastes like lye dissolved in vinegar, but we mix it with punch. I reckon people drink as much in the South as they do anywhere else.

"We have a good time in our fraas they do anywhere else.

"We have a good time in our fraternities, but we have nothing as rough as the tubbing done up North. About the worst thing we do to our freshmen is to make them parade in front of the Lafayette hotel shouting "Lafayette, we are here!" Or ride them ten miles out in the country on a rainy night and let them walk home. At the University of Kentucky a freshman is a freshman—with adjectives—just as an auto is a can or a charlot and just as a tea hound is a candy ankle.

"The thing we get out of college."
